

Junior App Developer

Job Description

Position Summary

The developer will work within a dynamic development team and will be involved in the design, development, and implementation of new products and the continuous improvement of existing products.

Responsibilities

- Analyze specifications and translate requirements to tasks for implementation
- Analyze, design, and develop software applications
- Responsible for the development of robust programs
- Test programs for correct logic and syntax
- Assure production of a quality product
- Provide supporting technical documentation throughout the development lifecycle
- Complete work allocated within agreed time, scope, and quality criteria
- Ensure regular reporting to management on projects progress

Desired Skills, Experience & Knowledge

Requirements

- Completion of undergraduate degree in Computer Science/Engineering, or other related field
- Experience in developing and implementing applications with standard UI components
- Experience in connecting applications to Back End services
- Experience developing Web applications
- Knowledge of HTML5/CSS3, Python, JavaScript, AJAX, jQuery, DOM manipulation, XML, SQL, NoSQL, .NET, C++, ASP.
- Knowledge of SOA, Web Services methodologies using RESTful or SOAP based APIs

Other Requirements

- Analytical and problem solving abilities
- Strong interpersonal skills
- Strong organizational, planning and time management skills
- Excellent written and oral communication skills
- Microsoft Azure training and/or certification is an asset

Closing date: October 1st, 2017

Please send your cover letter and resume to ben.gallacher@performancephenomics.com.

We thank all applicants for their interest and effort in applying for the position, however only candidates selected for interviews will be contacted.

More information about Performance Phenomics - <https://www.performancephenomics.com/about-1>